BRAND GUIDELINES

MADHAVAN UNNI

Identity manual prepared by Vandana Shankar

The Foundations of Our Identity

These guidelines establish the framework for the Madhavan Unni Personal Brand. They are designed to ensure all communications are as precise, consistent, and insight-driven as the expertise he brings to the CPG industry.

His brand is the first impression of his work, communicating a core commitment to clarity, strategic depth, and long-term thinking

Each element within this guide—from the visual system and language style to his point of view is a component with a specific role. When used together, they build a cohesive, credible, and powerful identity. The following pages outline the foundation of his brand, what he stands for, and how to express that identity with sharpness across all platforms, whether engaging with leaders, operators, investors, or aspiring professionals in the CPG space.

Treat this document as the schematic for his identity. Understanding and adhering to these guidelines is essential for building and maintaining a consistent and enduring perception of his expertise. This precision ensures that every communication accurately reflects the quality, clarity, and foresight shaped by decades of experience across East Asia and Dubai.

Brand Voice

EXPERT:

Experienced with deep CPG knowledge with background of working with big brands shown through data, case studies. Avoids generic advice.

DIRECT:

Self Aware, opinionated, minimal corporate jargons, REAL!

CONVERSATIONAL:

Write like talking to a colleague, entertaining. Controversial, asks questions, shows personality.

REGIONAL:

Middle East/Asia brands and founders. Local retailers, cultural nuances, regional consumer behavior.

Logo usage

Logos and branding are essential. Madhavan’s identity is built around a simple, memorable mark: an orange dot paired with the wordmark “Madhavan.”

This symbol represents clarity and focus, so it must always be used consistently. The orange dot is the core visual element, acting as both the signature and the anchor of the brand, supported by the clean wordmark. Together, they create a distinctive, minimal identity that is easy to recognise across every touchpoint.

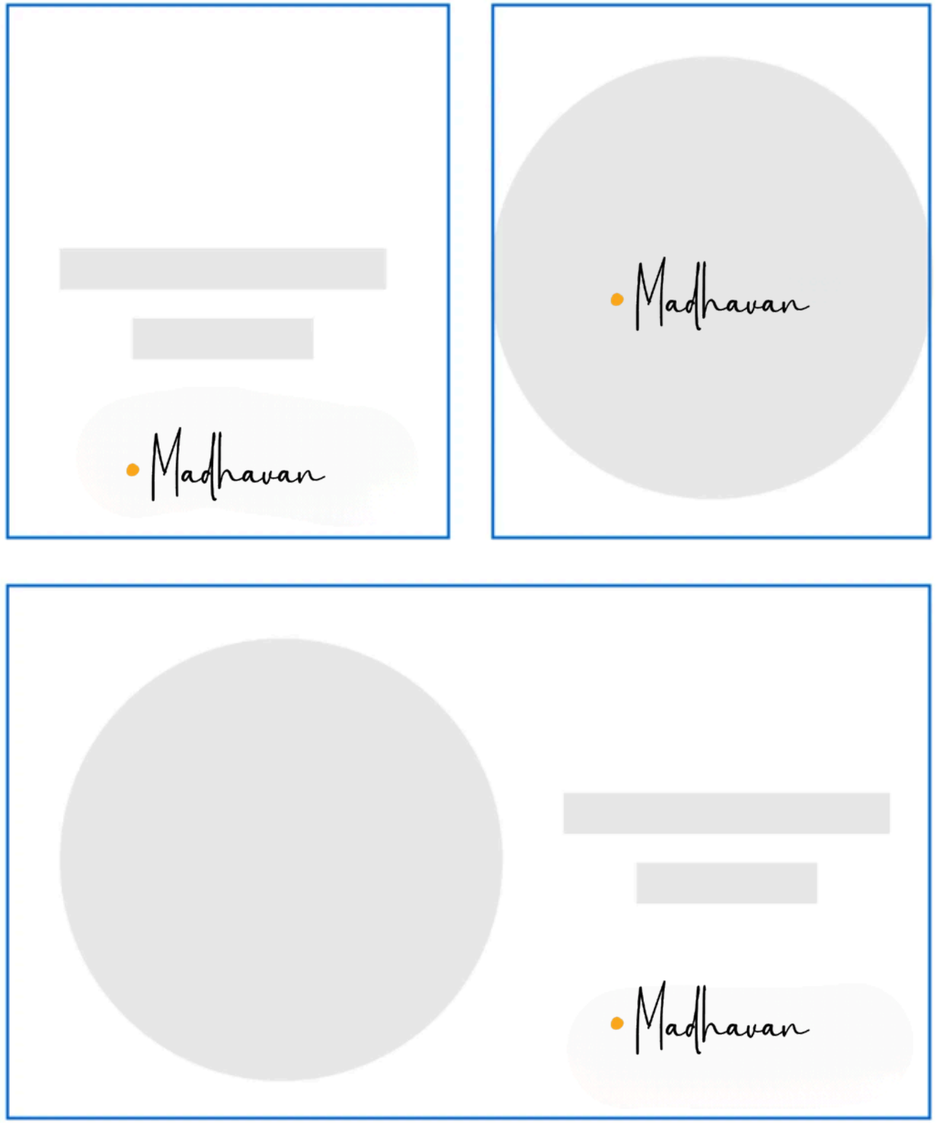
Logo placement

When it comes to logo placement, we follow a few simple guidelines. Whenever possible, the logo should sit centered at the bottom of the layout. At times, the content may require more space, which means adjusting the logo position. In those cases, here's how to place it correctly:

Portrait
The default placement is center–bottom, ensuring the logo remains clear and unobstructed.

Animated Logo
For animated or masked compositions, the logo should stay centered to maintain maximum visibility throughout the movement.

Landscape
For layouts with strong visuals or text in landscape format, the logo is placed in the bottom–right corner for a balanced, clean finish.



Unacceptable use

- Do not change the color of the dot
- Do not flip the logo
- Do not shrink the logo
- Do not Box the logo
- Do not add drop shadow
- Do not distort the logo
